WELLNESS

Workbook

FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY

We're putting our most important priorities in place!

WELCOME

Hello and welcome to our Putting Priorities in Place January challenge group! I'm so very excited you're here! Are you ready to get excited and zero-in on your wellness goals?!

This workbook was created to provide you with several tools and resources to help you stay on track this month. I hope that you will utilize them in order to achieve the best results from your fitness and nutrition programs.

Here's how to get started: First, you'll take your weight, measurements and before pictures to record your starting point. Second, you'll set three specific goals you want to work toward this month along with your WHY. Third, you'll sign the commitment contract and go through the rest of the pre-challenge checklist items!

You'll also find meal plan sheets, tracking sheets, weekly review sheets and tips to stay on track. This group is made just for YOU and if you show up daily, I promise you'll see positive changes in no time! COMMIT now and results will come!

Please reach out to me if you have any questions, concerns or even if you're just struggling with motivation - as your coach, that's what I'm here for!

xoxo, your coach

PRE-CHALLENGE

Record your stats

The best way to see how much your body is transforming is to record your before, middle and after weight & measurements. Along with documenting these numbers, it is even more vital to take progress pictures of your front, back and sides. You might even do a video! Remember, the scale doesn't tell the whole story and it's more important to note how you're feeling overall! If you are losing inches without losing pounds, you could be losing fat and gaining some muscle strength!

Set your goals

It's time to set some goals for yourself this month! Do you want to fit into a specific pair of jeans? Would you like to complete EVERY workout on your calendar? What about gaining more energy to keep up with your kids or being able to do 10 push-ups on your tippy toes? Take some time to come up with 3 specific goals AND WHY you want to achieve each one. Your WHY is the purpose behind setting that goal. Knowing your WHY will help guide your focus and keep you motivated to keep going!

commitment contract

My main goal for the month is:

I would like to start the year feeling:

I am committing to and will be doing the following workout and nutrition program:

I, hereby commit to showing up for myself each and every day to work hard on achieving the goal(s) I set above.

I understand that my health & fitness is my responsibility and I am willing to make any positive long-term changes to establish better lifestyle habits this year. I recognize that I will only reach my goals by being consistent in creating healthy habits. This will not happen overnight, it is not a quick fix and there is no finish line on my wellness journey. Once I reach a goal, I will set another one and then another one.

Starting today, I will go after the success I deserve in order to live a happier and healthier life. I am determined to do my very best and will no longer make excuses for my current habits which have prevented me from getting to the place I want to be. It is my duty to myself to not give up.

The power to change my mindset about exercise and my relationship with food lies within me. I desire to treat my body with the love and respect that it deserves. I know that in order to give my family, friends and community the best of me - I must make sure I am filling my own self-care cup consistently.

I sign this contract making a commitment to myself and acknowledging that my future is my responsibility. I am capable of doing my best and pushing beyond my perceived limits! I am ready to do this!

plan and prep tips

SCHEDULE IT IN

Pick a convenient day out of the week to schedule sit down time for planning out your menu. Stick to it and make it a weekly routine!

LOOK AHEAD

Take a look at your calendar for the next week, if you have long busy days or shorter easier days, plan your meals accordingly.

TAKE INVENTORY

Check your fridge and freezer for foods that you need to use up before they go bad. Try to include these ingredients in your menu.

CHECK SALES

If you're on a tight budget, it's helpful to check out your fav store's weekly ad or mobile coupons. See what's on sale to save some money!

SIMPLE SIDES

For sides, remember no difficult recipe needed! For example, serve steamed veggies, brown rice, quinoa, a simple salad or fruit.

MAKE YOUR MENU

Pencil in what meals you plan to have each day! It's often best to stick with your favorites and try 1-2 new recipes a week.

BABY STEPS

If you're new to this prep business, it's best to start out small only prepping for 1-2 meals/snacks or days at a time until you find your groove.

KEEP IT SIMPLE

When you're cooking everything for multiple days at once, it's SO important to keep it simple. 10 ingredients or less is a good rule to follow.

BATCH/BULK COOKING

This is cooking multiple foods all at once! Roasting veggies, sweet potatoes and lean proteins in the oven all at one time works wonders!

PROPER STORAGE

Proper storing of your meals can help them stay fresh, keeping for up to 5 days. Be organized, stack neatly, and opt for glass when you can!

FINDING SHORTCUTS

If in a time crunch, buy frozen or fresh pre-cut veggies and fruits, already cooked beans and rice or proteins. Or invest in a food processor!

STAYING FOCUSED

Keep your eyes on the prize! All of this meal prep is for a big purpose... to help you reach those health & fitness goals you set. You can stay the course!
